Choice Lies Between This City And Conneaut Lake For Next Year's Meeting

SUPPORT OF CITY ASKED BY POST HERE

Woman's Auxiliary Captures Many Prizes At Encampment Held In Wilkes-Barre

Serious consideration was given to the bid of the Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, for the 1931 Pennsylvania department convention at the concluding meeting of the encampment in Wilkes-Barre Saturday. Only two places asked for the encampment next year, Conneaut Lake and New Castle, and because of its strategic location, New Castle will undoubtedly be chosen.

The attitude of the citizens of New Castle will largely determine whether the convention will be brought here this morning. The support of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce was pledged to the movement, when the matter was brought up for consideration at the convention. ### May Name Lindbergh Baby, Charles A. Junior

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ENGLEWOOD, N. J., June 23.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is today the proud "Dad" of a son. "We" are now "Three."

The baby, a fairly lusty infant, was born at 3:15 yesterday afternoon. He weighed seven and three quarters pounds. And, by a happy coincidence, the stork arrived on Mrs. Lindbergh's twenty-fourth birthday.

Both Mrs. Lindbergh and the baby were reported in fine condition this morning. The mother is the former Anne Morrow, daughter of Ambassador and Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow.

The baby was born in the palatial Morrow mansion where Mrs. Lindbergh first saw the light exactly twenty-four years ago yesterday.

Two Guesses On Name

Speculation was rife today as to what name Anne and "Lindy" would give the child. Two of the best guesses were Dwight Morrow Lindbergh and Charles Augustus Lindbergh, Jr. The famous "Lone Eagle" is said to have taken the event calmly. He had no comment to make regarding the arrival of the "Eagle."

Ambassador Morrow, however, was jubilant. Shortly after the baby was born he went to the home of Douglas (Continued On Page Seven)

Biggest Man-Hunt In Entire History Of New York Starts

Metropolitan Police Department Out To Capture Maniac Killer

EIGHTEEN SUSPECTS ALREADY TAKEN

Girls Who Were With Slain Men Fail To Identify Any Of Suspects

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, June 23.—The biggest manhunt in New York's history will be pressed for the next thirty days to get the phantom "necker-killer" of Queens, who shoots lovers in the dark unless he is captured sooner. Police Commissioner Mulrooney said today.

Failure after failure has met police efforts to bring in the necker-killer. Eighteen suspects have been snatched from parks and roadways since the murder of Noel Sowley, but not one has been charged by either Betty Ring or Catherine May, the girls who saw their lovers slain, with the murders.

A new threat note, which detectives are checking over in comparison with those received by the Evening Journal, has been received by a Brooklyn news distributor.

Meyer Newmark, well-to-do Brooklyn resident, got the note at 8 a. m. Saturday. It is revealed several hours after the Journal got its note, declared authentic by handwriting experts, in which the "necker-killer" announced he was through murdering and on his way to Russia.

Police Not Impressed

LANCASTER, Pa., June 23.—Police today attached little significance to information given them by one Dewey Ede that he spent Saturday night and Sunday morning with Mr. 3-X, Manhattan's murder maniac.

Ede, afoot, came into the police station here yesterday and confided his story to police. According to Ede, he started for Lancaster in company with a man he met in a roadside lunch room ten miles from Coatesville. After they walked along for several miles, the stranger suddenly turned to Ede, and exclaimed, "I'm the 3-X slayer."

His companion then indulged in incoherent mutterings. Ede said, men (Continued On Page Two)

Dr. Petty Gives Powerful Sermon

Big Audience Hears Pittsburgh Divine Preach In Cathedral Sunday

Urges Renewal Of Faith To Overcome Tendencies Of This Modern Age

One of the most virile sermons ever delivered in New Castle, was heard at the Cathedral last evening, when Dr. Carl Wallace Petty, noted Baptist divine of Pittsburgh, spoke before a large audience on the occasion of the Anniversary of St. John's Day.

Dr. Petty, took the place of Dr. Hugh Thompson Kerr of Pittsburgh, who was forced to take his bed Friday with a threatened nervous breakdown, and despite the short notice prepared a sermon which gripped the heart and mind of every person in the huge audience that greeted him.

Speaks on Faith

Dr. Petty spoke on the subject of "Faith." He told of the faith of the pioneers of this country, who sought a comfortable faith in the face of famine, drouth, and danger. This was later supplanted by a rational faith, when this country emerged from (Continued On Page Two)

East Side Girl Disappears On Walk To Home

Widespread Search Being Made For Trace Of Gertrude McArthur

NOT SEEN SINCE SATURDAY NIGHT

Police And Family Endeavor To Find Some Solution To Mystery

Gertrude McArthur, eighteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McArthur of 911 Winslow avenue, has been missing from her home since late Saturday night and is feared by members of her family she may have been the victim of foul play.

The missing girl last seen Saturday night about 11:30 o'clock at Warren avenue on Washington street by Gladys Vaughn, of 1513 Huron avenue, as she continued on her way west on Washington street toward her home street, was walking home with Miss Vaughn from Cascade Park, where they had spent about an hour.

Of a sweet obliging disposition, there is no reason known at this time for her disappearance, other than the supposition that she may have been the victim of evil disposed persons, unknown to her and who made her an unwilling prisoner.

No Clues Found.

Search of her room at home by her relatives, in the hope that some clue might be obtained regarding her possible intentions to leave, was without the slightest evidence being secured and only further establishes in the minds of her family that something in the nature of foul play has occurred.

She has dropped out of the life of (Continued On Page Two)

WASHINGTON, June 23.—The Hoover Congress entered the home stretch of its first regular session today with a battle over World War pensions and a clash over prohibition featuring the C. for adjournment next Saturday.

President Hoover entered the pension controversy by announcing he would veto the pending pension bill unless it were modified to substantially reduce its cost. The president was supported by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who said the government was facing a deficit next year, and by Director Frank T. Hines, of the Veterans Bureau, who said the pending bill was too costly and a departure from sound principles in soldier relief legislation.

Delaware County Negro Dies In Chair For Murder Of Officer

EXECUTION OCCURS EARLY THIS MORNING

(International News Service)

ROCKVIEW PENITENTIARY, BELLEFONTE, Pa., June 23.—John Pierce, 31, a Delaware county negro, died in the electric chair here this morning, for the fatal shooting of Frank Kowalski, a Chester policeman, last December 16.

Rev. A. E. Mann, Negro pastor, of Media, accompanied Pierce in his walk to the chair. Pierce said nothing and was quickly strapped to the chair. The first contact was made at 7:01, the second at 7:02 and he was pronounced dead at 7:06 by Dr. McLaughlin, penitentiary physician and Dr. Foster, of State College.

Robert Elliott, official executioner from New York state, threw the switch.

The body was claimed by relatives. Pierce was charged with fatally shooting Kowalski when the officer attempted to take from him a revolver he had been bandishing in a restaurant. He had been threatening "to shoot up the place." It was charged and the proprietor called in Kowalski. When Kowalski attempted to place him under arrest, Pierce refused to give up and shot the officer, fatally wounding him.

The state board of pardons last week refused to commute the sentence of death to life imprisonment.

By W. F. PETERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, June 23.—James "Red" Forsythe, alias Fawcett, definitely accused as the actual assassin of Alfred Lingle, Chicago Tribune reporter, was the object of a widespread man hunt today.

Accusation of Forsythe came after a dogmatic assertion by a high police official last Saturday that the slayer was known.

Lingle was put on the spot just two weeks ago today. His murder signaled a concerted drive against gangland.

Press For Indictment

Authorities today bent every effort to gathering evidence which might bring an indictment against Forsythe by the grand jury, which is expected to get under way this week.

Forsythe is a reputed henchman of the Moran-Aiello gang, a rival of the Al Capone organization. Lingle was a friend of Capone and several times visited him at Miami.

So terrific was the crash that the flyer's engine was disabled and another engine from Atlantic City was dispatched to complete the train's run.

It makes you feel that they really think that your friendship is worth a bit, and when they tell you they're glad to come, say fellow that makes a hit, And you rustle round and invite them out, to lunches and teas and say they leave again with a happy smile, it's warm, witty-eight today.

America Draws First Blood In Wimbledon Play

Wimer Allison, Young Texas Star Defeats Veteran Australian Player As Play Starts

By F. A. WRAY
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 23.—

America drew first blood in the Wimbledon tennis championships when Wimer Allison, flashing star of Austin, Texas, defeated E. F. Moon of Australia, as the colorful tournament opened before an enthusiastic crowd here today.

Allison downed the more experienced Australian in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3, 6-3.

The young Texan's victory was a personal triumph. He had not been chosen among the seeded eight in the singles, his place being taken by the player he opposed on the famous Wimbledon center court as the tournament got under way this afternoon. Thus there was a touch of poetic justice in the fact that Allison eliminated the Australian so thoroughly and decisively, showing a brand of tennis that entitled him to the distinction of being a seeded player.

Allison played speedily and with superb confidence. Moon alternated between brilliance and laxity, with more of the latter than the former. The Australian's best game was the seventh of the second set, when he served three successive service aces. Allison's impressive first round victory cheered the large American contingent in the Wimbledon stands. It was estimated 15,000 people, including many fashionable society folk, were on hand for the opening of the tournament.

to reach them promptly. Much unnecessary annoyance and disappointment may result unless it does.

New Castle's fame as the convention city of Western Pennsylvania is spreading rapidly. The state Veterans of Foreign Wars are looking with favor on this for their annual gathering next year, it is learned from reports of the sessions just concluded at Wilkes-Barre. Indications are that the convention will be entertained here next year. Some thousands of delegates and visitors attend the convention during the three days of its progress, and it would be the largest ever attempted in New Castle from the standpoint of attendance.

With hay harvest in progress in Lawrence County, fields of wheat are beginning to take on the appearance that means the wheat harvest will be started in a short time. Wheat is usually being harvested by the Fourth of July period.

New Castle's fame as a convention city has spread all over the state. Members of the V. F. W. in their convention at Wilkes-Barre last week hailed with delight the invitation of the McBride post to try and bring the convention to New Castle next June.

ed the sentence and unless Forsythe surrenders his bond will be forfeited. When he imposed sentence, Judge John H. Lyle told Forsythe: "I will not hand you back your gun. You look like a potential murderer to me. I hate to say that, but it is true. I certainly would not want to take a chance in the dark with you. Judge Lyle said later that great political pressure was brought to bear on him to vacate the sentence, but he stood pat.

When taken into custody in a raid on the alleged Moran headquarters in the loop several months ago, Forsythe asserted he was an employee of corporation counsel Samuel Etelson's office, and was shown that he was on the corporation counsel's payroll. He was released.

Two other developments were outstanding today in Chicago's war on gangland. Protestant church of the city were to meet and get the "low down" on the local crime situation.

Acting Commissioner of Police John Alcock was to give out the list of 700 erstwhile detectives who are to go back to walking beats in uniform. While seeking Forsythe authorities were also concentrating on their search for Foster, former henchman of the Moran-Allo gang who recently deserted to take up a place in the organization of "Scarface Al" Capone.

ideas on relief for World War veterans. If this measure, keeping the cost of relief around $50,000,000 is defeated, the administration will support an American Legion bill, limiting relief to about $74,000,000. It was indicated the president would veto any other pension bill.

A prohibition law involving activities of President Hoover's law enforcement commission is also to be settled. The issue arose after the House refused to appropriate $250,000 asked for its maintenance during the coming fiscal year.

With a Hoover veto threatened, it was entirely likely the Senate would amend the pension act to conform with the administration's views. The vote probably will come late this afternoon, since debate will be limited after 3 o'clock.

question. Some financial assistance would be needed, but the convention would be self-supporting to a considerable extent and would bring upwards of 15,000 people to the city for a period of three days.

The final choice lies with the council of administration of the state department, and as no action will be taken in the matter for several months, the members of the local post expect to be able to secure the support needed to bring the encampment here in the interim.

New Officers Named.

The convention at Wilkes-Barre was brought to a close Saturday with the annual election of officers in which Aaron Gardner of Williamsport was elected department commander for the coming year, succeeding James E. Van Zandt of Altoona. Van Zandt was department commander for the past two years. The other officers named were: Senior vice commander, Daniel O'Donnell of Phoenixville; junior vice commander, R. W. Brown of Corry; quartermaster, James P. Long of Lebanon; chaplain, Burgess E. Banks of Philadelphia; judge advocate, A. P. Kane of Kingston; member of council of administration for five-year term, James E. Van Zandt of Altoona, past department commander.

Officers named by the ladies auxiliary of the vets were: President, Mrs. May Stanford of Pittsburgh; senior vice president, Florence Anderson of Philadelphia; junior vice president, Mrs. Norma Potts of Pittsburgh; treasurer, Margaret Hyle of Pittsburgh; chaplain, Mrs. William McGowan of Philadelphia; conductress, Anna Lambertson of Erie; assistant conductress, Ethel Waipole of Uniontown, and guard, Ethel Boyle of Pittsburgh.

The state encampment which just closed was one of the greatest in the history of the department of Pennsylvania. Commander Bell of the local post, who was one of the delegates to the McBride post, stated: "The convention was in unanimous accord on most of the important matters presented, and the officers who were named were the popular choice of the delegates."

Ladies Win Honors.

One of the outstanding recommendations made was the urging upon congress of granting immediate payment of the bonus, instead of holding the certificates for redemption until the end of the 20-year period under the present law. The dire need of many veterans for immediate financial assistance prompted the request.

The ladies auxiliary to the McBride post brought back a major portion of the cups and prizes awarded at the convention for outstanding work during the past year.

They were awarded a cup for coming the second greatest distance of any auxiliary, Sharon winning first honors at this point. In addition, Mrs. Orville Potter and Mrs. John Stoner were awarded rings for securing the largest number of new members during the year.

The ladies auxiliary of the state department voted to contribute $1,200 to the erection of a hospital at the national home of the V. F. W. at Eaton Rapids, Mich., and again the local auxiliary won commendation, contributing more than the rest of the state. Mrs. Louise Evans and Mrs. James A. Bell were given citations for their special gifts for the hospital, each promising $5 among the special gifts.

The attention of the local post will be turned immediately to the matter of bringing the 1931 convention to New Castle, and in this, Commander Bell has been assured of the wholehearted support of Past Department Commander Van Zandt of Altoona, who has a warm regard for the New Castle post which, during the past year, has developed into one of the leading posts in the state, both in point of membership and accomplishment.

the dangers which beset the early settlers. Today he said, men are seeking an intelligent faith, a faith which will cause them to believe in God.

Referring to the youth of the land, Dr. Petty stated that the youth of today lives in a land of adventure. "With them, religion begins as an experiment and ends as an experience," he said. "The young people of today want a thrill out of religion and I think they are right in demanding it. We talk a good game of religion but we are afraid to follow it through by example."

"I am not troubled by a comfortable, rational, or adventurous faith. What I want is a downright stubborn faith; one with a real fiber in it."

"One hears so much of open-mindedness these days. There have been more shallow things brought about through open-mindedness in religion today than any one thing. But there are some things which we are not open minded about."

Need Stubborn Faith

"It takes a stubborn faith to believe in the goodness of God. The 'intelligencia' has a tendency to sneer at everything material these days. They have been 'debunking' the character of our great figures in history, and trying to destroy our faith in mankind."

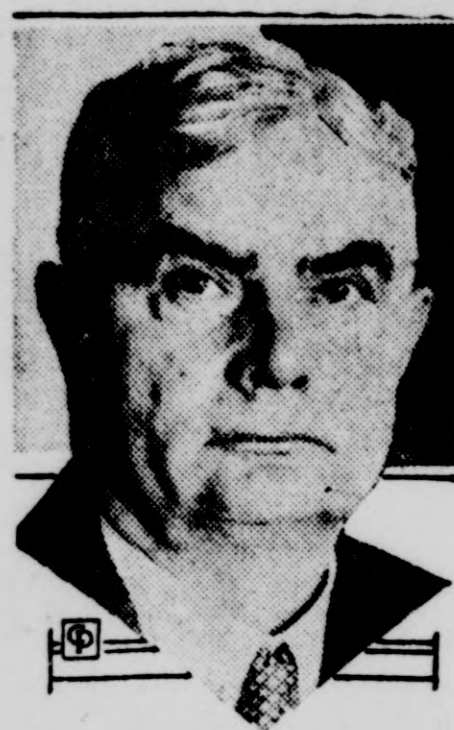

"On this day, when we celebrate the anniversary of one of the greatest Christians, I urge you to back a stubborn faith, a faith that will stay put. Religion is bringing the best that is in you to the highest point. God gives us the kind of faith that will stay with us, even in the face of defeat."

Last evening's service was arranged by the New Castle Lodge of Perfection, and was presided over by William C. Porter, third potent master of the lodge. Dr. W. E. McClure, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of New Castle, pronounced the invocation and benediction, and music during the service was rendered by the quartet and organist from the Shady Side Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, Dr. Kerr's church. They rendered several beautiful numbers which were deeply appreciated.

The entire service was one of the finest in character, and will undoubtedly be made an annual feature, by the Lodge of Perfection.

You're the JUDGE

A pair of burglars set upon a certain house in the nearby section as one they desired to "clean out."

But they decided to tempt one of the girl servants to assist them with "the job."

So posing as door to door salesmen they engaged the girl servant in conversation and finally broached the matter to her.

She told them that she would think it over, and asked them to call the next day.

After they left she immediately told her master what had transpired, and he instructed her to make believe that she would assist the men.

When she told that to the men, a night was set for their entry. On that night two policemen were secreted in the house. When the burglars came, the maid opened the door for them, and after they entered the police arrested them.

At the trial the men pleaded not guilty.

EAST SIDE GIRL DISAPPEARS ON WALK TO HOME

her family and community completely and the police and her family are without the slightest clue to work upon.

Her last thought apparently, as she was leaving her friend, Miss Vaughn, was that of attending church and Sunday school the following morning. She had arranged to call Miss Vaughn to plan for walk Sunday afternoon.

Broadcast Facts.

The police authorities have had her disappearance broadcasted over the state police teletype system and are engaged in notifying cities and towns far and wide in the hope that she may be found. At the present time, there has nothing been learned in the quest for the missing girl.

Miss Vaughn, her friend, the last person to see her, has given the family and the police the only information of an authoritative character.

According to Miss Vaughn, she went into the Woolworth Five and Ten store where Miss McArthur was employed, about eight o'clock Saturday evening. Miss McArthur asked Miss Vaughn what she proposed doing. Miss Vaughn informed her that she had no reason for remaining downtown and thought she would go home.

Miss McArthur said for her to remain there that she would be up after getting through at 9:30 p. m. She arrived at the Vaughn home, 1513 Huron avenue, some time after that hour.

Went To Park.

She remained there for a time talking with Miss Vaughn and the latter's mother. Then it was suggested that they walk to Cascade Park and they left for that place about 10:15 p. m.

On their arrival there, about four block away, they watched the dancers for a couple of dances, then took three rides on the Gorge route, and started home.

Miss Vaughn states that one of them looked at a watch about this time and it was about 11:15 p. m. It was probably about 11:30 p. m. as they parted at Warren avenue on East Washington street, Miss Vaughn going over to Huron avenue and Miss McArthur continuing on her way on Washington street.

Miss Vaughn remembered seeing Miss McArthur continuing on down the street to Winslow avenue, her home street, a few blocks distant. She does not remember seeing any other person on the street at the time.

Miss Vaughn was terribly shocked on Sunday, when called by the mother of the missing girl and informed that Miss McArthur had not returned home, because when they parted there was no indication of Miss McArthur going other than going straight home.

When the facts as told by Miss Vaughn concerning the night previous became known, the family of the missing girl were thrown into greater despair than previously and the efforts through the police and other private means to locate the girl were inaugurated with greater intensity.

Miss McArthur had no boy friends and it is the first Saturday in weeks that one of both of her sisters, Gilberta and Virginia have not been with her. Her disposition was sweet and obliging and her conduct has always been model. She and her sisters have been repeatedly warned against taking up with young men who they did not know or knew only casually and for that reason the family feel sure that her disappearance is not due to any acquaintance on her part and that her disappearance must have been forced.

She is described as being eighteen years of age, five feet six inches in height, weighing between 130 and 135 pounds. She wore a green and white dotted dress, a black coat, green hat, black slippers and white hose, when last seen.

Her hair is dark brown and bobbed, her complexion medium and she is slightly stooped shouldered.

According to a member of the McArthur family the amount of money that the missing girl might have in her possession was small, not over $15 at the most.

THE FOREIGN PROTESTS AGAINST THE TARIFF

ONLY the other day The Philadelphia Inquirer pointed out that many of the countries of Europe which have been protesting most vigorously against our new protective tariff law have tariff laws of their own.

It was also intimated that some of them were beginning to cry before they were hurt, the Inquirer continues.

Confirmation on these two points comes from Washington. Leading government authorities have been examining the protests from abroad and they have made some useful and instructive discoveries.

They find, for instance, that every government protesting against the Hawley-Smoot law has itself raised duties on American products within the last four years. Scores of other foreign governments have done the same thing. This will be sad news to the apologetic Americans who have been shedding bitter tears over the thought that we were doing an injustice to these countries by raising the rates on their products.

The fact that many of the protests are eight and nine months old also helps to rob them of any significance. They simply object to any kind of American tariff.

An amusing feature of the business is found in protests against increased rates which were not in the bill which went into effect at midnight on Tuesday. Public meetings have been held in some of the countries in Europe to protest rates which were either reduced or eliminated before the bill went to the president. But that will make little difference to the theorists who consider it wrong to protect the workmen of the United States against the cheap labor of Europe. In any dispute they take the side of the foreign governments against our own. They seem to think it a virtue; but there is a possibility of carrying that kind of reasoning too far.

THIRD PARTIES

Third party movements in the United States have never been successful. Their influence upon political and governmental affairs has, however, been considerable.

The Anti-Renters were a New York organization which flourished about 1841. They resisted the collection of back rents on the Van Rensselaer manor near Albany. They had strength enough to defeat Wright, the regular Democratic candidate for governor of New York, but made no impression upon national politics.

The Barn-Burners, New York, 1846, were seceders from the Democratic party. They were opposed to slavery extension. The Bucktails were another New York party and supported Madison for the presidency.

The Conservatives, in New York and several other states, were paper money Democrats and in their prime in 1837. To the Doughfaces belonged the northern members of congress who voted for the Missouri compromise.

Naturalization of aliens with less than 21-years' residence was opposed by the Know-Nothings of 1854. Twenty years before them the Loco-Focos, a branch of the Democratic party, flourished in New York.

The Liberal Republicans were those who bolted their party to join the Democrats in support of Greeley for president in 1872.

Theodore Roosevelt launched the Progressive third party movement in 1912 and succeeded only in defeating the party he deserted in a huff. LaFollette's third party movement died a-borning.

This history heads forth little hope for those earnest drys and wets who are talking third party in 1932 if the regular platforms and candidates go against them.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND

The constant bombardment with statistics to which the people of the United States are subjected makes them feel at times like closing their eyes and plugging their ears to more figures, but they cannot well ignore such data as came out of this year's meeting of the National Safety Council.

When they read that in all probability 100,000 persons will meet accidental death in 1930, the possibility that many of them will be among the victims should arouse interest in the forecast. A hundred thousand lives mean something.

Automobiles will cause a large percentage of the fatalities of 1930 but the auto death list will not exceed that of accidents in the home. The latter account for about 25,000 deaths each year, the causes being suffocation, burns, falls and poison. Home accidents are greater than industrial and occupational accidents combined. Railroads kill and injure 8500 trespassers in a year.

Analysis of the statistics demonstrates that we are a grossly careless people, individual indifference to personal safety and safety to others more than offsetting the reduction made in accidental deaths by organized effort to lower the hazards incurred in industry and trade. On the face of the figures the nation must turn its safety-first and accident-prevention guns upon the home and continue to keep them trained upon pedestrians and motorists.

THE CITY-STATE

Boston is, of course, disappointed with her census returns, which according to a preliminary announcement, show a population of 774,729, or a gain of only 3.5 per cent over the figures of 1920. St. Louis still outranks Boston, and Baltimore also has passed her. The Massachusetts capital now occupies ninth place in the Big Ten, St. Louis dropping from sixth to seventh because of the extraordinary advance of Los Angeles to fifth position, on the heels of Detroit, and ahead of Cleveland.

The Los Angeles rush is accounted for by the fact that she has, so to speak, obliterated her city limits. In area she is now the biggest city in the world, being more than twice the size of Chicago and four times that of Philadelphia. The Washington Post, authority for the statement, remarks that Boston, if she had adopted the Los Angeles plan, would be a city of 2,000,000.

But nobody is going to be angry with Los Angeles, or accuse her of having swept past her older sisters by strategy rather than merit. What is apparent in practically all sections of the country is that the cities continue to drain the country—that the trek cityward persists, that the population of many cities exceeds that of many states—that inevitably we are headed for that political autonomy of antiquity, the City-State, which exercised dominion until the arrival of Alexander, the first warrior statesman to think in terms of continental unity.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Love And Respect.
A Mad Hatter's Party.
Strong Men, One And Two.
Crime, And The Government.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1930, King Features
Syn., Inc.)

Mr. Owen D. Young, a very able man, says:
"We, more than any one in the world, need an era of good feeling, not only in our own country, but elsewhere."

We need the friendly feeling of other nations, undoubtedly, and should like to have it. However, when a man owes you money he rarely loves you, and we know the real feeling toward us of European that owe us ten billions, plus interest.

The "good feeling" of other nations is beyond our control. But their respect we can command.

Enough flying machines, submarines, swift cruisers and common sense would guarantee from Europe, respect and polite talk.

That's the next best to being loved by them—something not easily arranged.

At the Mad Hatter's tea party as you well remember, one of the guests put "the very best butter" in his watch, but even that could not make the watch go.
"Nothing seems to please it," said the disappointed guest.

In New York yesterday the Federal Reserve reduced the discount rate to 2 1/2 per cent, lowest in history and Wall Street was expected to be happy.

But "nothing seems to please it," either. Stocks went down from 1 to 13 points, those who recently bought without thought turning the other way and selling, more foolishly without reason.

They are sorry now that they bought originally. They will be sorry later that they sold.

Kemal Pasha, strong man of Europe No. 2 Mussolini being strong man No. 1 has 10,000 of his Turks fighting saving Kurds entrenched on a mountain. The Kurds, Mohammedans like the Turks, are Orthodox Mohammedans rejecting Kemal's violent changes in their religion.

Some in Kemal's army might even desert to the Kurds. They still resent Kemal's order compelling them to wear hats with brims, instead of the old fez, and feel that the order may deprive them of paradise.
The Koran tells them to pray with their heads covered, their foreheads touching the earth. They can't do that with a derby hat, because of the brim.

In these days, somebody murdered may be found almost anywhere. New York is excited about a murderer who writes to a newspaper telling of his killing plans, and carries them out.

In Chicago, a useless automobile is thrown on a junk pile. The police find in it the body of a murdered "alcohol racketeer."

Murderers announcing their crimes in advance, striking without provocation or reason are a sufficient worry.

In addition New York deals with the "building racket" endangering and destroying life when racketeers fail to make blackmail arrangements with builders.

Our "efficient civilization" will be compelled eventually to do something about a crime organization with an income as great as that of the national government.

Dr. Wu Head of the Chicago mission to lepers, says China neglects control of lepers. He has seen "thousands of lepers leading a dog's life." Eighteen out of 64 districts have leper settlements.

Not China alone is interested in the fact that 1,100,000 of its inhabitants are victims of a dreadful plague.

Where leprosy spreads other plagues may spread. And some ten thousand times as dangerous as leprosy, might easily reach out to Western countries.

Grandi, Italian foreign minister, expresses regret that Italian students should have "demonstrated" impolitely before the French consul at Bari. That incident is closed.

But now Poland is excited because of a new "border death."

A Polish border guard, according to the German statement, passed the frontier, refused to put up his hands when ordered was shot and killed. Where gunpowder is, an explosion is always possible. Thank Heaven we have not guaranteed any European country against war.

Death Valley As New Garden Gives Hope For Barren Areas

Flowers In Desert Arouse Speculation As To Future Production And As To Age Limit Of Productive Seeds In Plant Life

There is more than the thought of the flowers that have given beauty to Death Valley, desert place of California, in the reports of a new vegetation in that region, after years of barren wastes. Americans are speculating as to the source of the seeds that produced the flowers, and as to the possibilities of making other waste places contribute to the country's agricultural output.

"For 19 days in May," says the OMAHA WORLD-HERALD, "showers fell on this forlorn stretch of country known the world over for its barren, black, mocking mirage. One of those mirages of life, which many of us are given to talk about has been startlingly demonstrated there. Seeds from ancient flowers, perhaps ages old, buried in this lava, mineral, dried-out soil of the ages, have been quickened into life. * * * The seeds of life seem unquenchable, all powerful and all preserving under circumstances that afford all sorts of speculations and parallels for the philosophic mind. Our understanding is, we often think, quite wonderful in this progressive day. We telephone, we motor, we fly, we radio around the world and wonder what else there is for the inventive mind to discover that really amounts to anything. But here are little seeds of life, dormant perhaps for centuries, bursting into growing plants and varied bloom. The thought makes us humble. We are not sure we know very much after all."

"Those seeds got there in some way," remarks the AKRON BEACON JOURNAL, "and it will be a most interesting story when the men of science tell us just how it happened. One may also speculate on whether a resurrection also awaits Death Valley. Mutation is always going on in nature. As strange as it may seem, the deserts of Gobi were once a land of tropical luxuriance and beauty. Once green, abundance in Labrador. Nearly all of Europe more lay under an ice pack thousands of feet deep. A goodly part of Ohio was also once covered with a sheet of ice which may have been over two thousand feet thick. Just why the ice has several times slipped down from the north converting beautiful and comfortable places into a long death of thousands of years, we do not know for certain. But we do know that has always been an end to that death."

"The phenomenon shows what may be done in reclaiming deserts," according to the MIAMI DAILY NEWS. "In less torrid deserts of the west irrigation has accomplished a great deal. A Frenchman who hopes to make the Sahara bloom is in this country to study such projects. The resurrection of Death Valley will interest him. If engineers can find water under the sands, the same may be done with Sahara."

Quoting a report from the SAN ANTONIO NEWS on the subject, the NEW CASTLE NEWS discusses the scientific question presented. This report states: "It took a botanist only 30 minutes to pick 100 varieties, and he covered a radius of but 50 yards. His collection included, asters, flowering grasses, wood sorrel, columbine, larkspur, lilies, bluebells, geraniums, daisies, buttercups, poppies, paintbrush, purple sage, cactus, dandelions, hedge mustard and other species less common and familiar." The New Castle paper comments on the report: "How came all those seeds there, and how long had they lain dormant waiting for the water's life-giving touch? Probably some had been carried many miles by the wind; others had lain there a half-century or longer. The vital spark is remarkably persistent. Mother Nature is prodigal sower, yet in another sense she is economical; she overlooks no opportunity to propagate species. She seeds the desert on the chance that perhaps in 100 years or so it will rain."

"Death Valley's wastes of burning sand," records the ST. LOUIS GLOBE-DEMOCRAT, "have become blankets of thick purple. It appears to be one of nature's wasteful gestures. For we must believe that the millions of plants of all description have been made to blossom only that they may die under the suffocating heat that is probably already upon them. It is reasonable to expect that they will wither and die even before they can reproduce their kind. For May showers in Death Valley may be easily forgotten in June. The remarkable factor in this blooming of Death Valley is where the seed that a few days of rain brought into life came from. Myriad varieties of seeds that apparently had lain dormant for many years. Every sand dune and every bare bluff must have held their secrets for uncountable seasons."

"No blossoms are expected," comments the TOLEDO BLADE, "amid the sand of that floor of desolation in that awful basin. It is a place of death, not life. It was named 80 years ago when a party of pioneers died there of thirst. It is a place of a fraction of an inch annual rainfall. Its blazing sunshine even roasts the birds."

The person with a winning way, will win a way, while the opposite will win nothing.

It is just as bad to talk like a streak of lightning, as to dope it out like a dead march.

Stock Market Gains Ground

Despite Heavy Selling Orders Market Shows Recovery In Opening Today

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, June 23.—Though handicapped with a heavy load of selling orders resulting from the wiping out of margin accounts by the thousands, the stock market was able to bring about a brisk rally today and restore a good part of the ground lost on Friday and Saturday.

Bearish professionals launched a severe drive against the industrial blue chips in the third hour and succeeded in driving a dozen or more of the active shares to new low levels. United States Steel receded to 152½, down 2½; American Can to 109½; General Electric under 64; Westinghouse to 125. After a moderate rally just before the noon period the bears returned to the fray, throwing large blocks of the utilities and specialties on the market.

Wall Street was cheered by reports that powerful bankers and bullish interests in their over-Sunday conferences had come to the conclusion that prices of their favorites had receded far enough. Determination of this group to "support the market" caused a quick change of front on the part of the bears, short covering took place all along the line as prices bounded forward in the pivotal stocks. Near the end of the third hour the tape was clear and industrial stocks were from a fraction to 3½ points above Saturday's close. ## Seven Arrested For Inciting Of Miners To Riot

Industrial Warfare Looms In Coal Region Of Pittston Over Incident

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 23.—The grim spectre of industrial warfare made its appearance here today when police arrested seven men on charges of inciting to riot when miners tried to tie-up operations at all the Pittston Coal Co. collieries.

One of the men arrested, Victor Fornier, 38, Pittston, required medical attention after police were forced to beat him into submission. Three officers took him in charge after they had been bombarded with bottles as they made their rounds of the storm area.

Police said those arrested were pickets. Conflicting reports of the effectiveness of the strike were made by company officials and the insurgent leaders of the miners. The company men said all collieries were operating without lack of men. The miners claimed more than struck last Saturday joined the walk-out today.

The trouble was raised by the miners who claimed the company was not equalizing the operations and employment at its various collieries. They called the strike against the advice of the United Mine Workers of America officials.

State troopers and deputy sheriffs were aiding in guard duty at the collieries after today's outbreak. The company employs some 15,000 men.

33 PIANOS LOANED FREE

Thirty-three pianos (Grands, Players and Uprights, both new and used instruments) will be placed in homes of New Castle and vicinity, and they may be used until we need them—which will be an indefinite time. On a moment's notice the Baldwin Company of Cincinnati were forced to take over the entire stock of their former dealer at Sharon, Pa. Boxing, dravage, freight, possible scratching and marring meant a terrific loss in reshipping to Cincinnati. These instruments have been transferred here and as a result our floors are overcrowded. We prefer giving you the benefit of this loss and will cut prices sensationally. If you have ever thought of buying a piano, now is the time. All pianos not sold outright will be placed in the homes of families who are interested in owning a piano in the immediate future, and for the valuable advertising we will receive by having good families use them. We reserve the right to select the homes in which these pianos are to be placed.

Positively No Charge for Anything

No cartage, no rent or any expense whatever. No phone orders. You must call at the store to make your selection. # Introducing Mickie And His Petite Spouse, Lizzie Mickie and Lizzie are at home to their friends in their small summer cottage at 105 1/2 East North street. They think the world of each other—Mickie and Lizzie. They are perfect mates. Lizzie is demure, even to the point of bashfulness, but Mickie has nerve enough for the whole family. Up and down the walls of their cottage they climb—and they swing from the chandeliers—for after all, this cottage is really a cage and Mickie and Lizzie are just monkeys, pet monkeys belonging to Mr. and Mrs. John B. Fogue.

Mickie does the tricks and Lizzie, a little female (as perhaps you have guessed), watches every move with adoring eyes—all of which is as it should be. As for Mickie, is the only girl in the world.

The little boy monkey is of the spider ring tail species. He is black and white, with a pinkish facial complexion. He is quite handsome and one can hardly blame little Lizzie for being hypnotized with him. When he stretches out in the sun, he greatly resembles a huge black spider. That explains the name "spider ring tail," the spider part of the title, anyway.

The other day a physician was conversing with Mickie and was quite impressed when the monkey displayed his tongue for inspection. Now it that isn't another point in favor of the ideas of Mr. Darwin and Mr. Scopes, we wonder what is? And that is just one of the many cute tricks of Mickie. He will shake hands, hunt fleas, shell peanuts, drink from a milk bottle, wink, will not bite hard, and can hang by his tail!

In evenings, sometimes, Mickie is taken for walks. He strolls with his owner up and down East North street. Mickie especially likes the postoffice grounds. He will not run away, according to Mr. Fogue, although once, quite a long time ago the monkey ran to the police station. A nice safe place to go.

One of Mickie's and Lizzie's favorite pastimes is eating. They like coconuts, peanuts and in fact everything but meats and pastries. (Mickie once ate a doughnut and got some very severe "pains.")

The Coffin medal is given for distinguished contribution to the development of electric railway transportation for the convenience of the people. The Brady medal is awarded annually for outstanding accomplishment in safety and accident prevention work.

23,720 WORLD-FAMOUS BEAUTY EXPERTS ADVISE PALMOLIVE!

"Don't mistreat your complexion by using the wrong soap ... use Palmolive"

says
MILADY'S SHOPPE of New Castle
beauty experts of renown

"MANY women have the mistaken notion that they should use no soap on the face," says this leading beauty expert. "The trouble," I reply in all such cases, "is that you are using the wrong kind of soap. You should use Palmolive."

That is the opinion of the outstanding experts here as well as abroad. Indeed, more than 23,000 beauticians today recommend Palmolive Soap as the best home beauty treatment. They explain why.

Palmolive—vegetable oil soap

The vegetable oils in Palmolive Soap are soothing, gentle, yet penetrating. Olive oil soap lather has a unique cleansing action which leaves the skin refreshed and stimulated.

When you massage Palmolive lather into the skin it goes deep down into the pores, searching out hidden impurities, freeing the pores of accumulations which otherwise develop into blackheads, pimples, blemishes. For the bath, too, it provides a cleanser unequalled in efficiency and delicacy.

Among New Castle's most important beauty shops is Milady's Shoppe, whose well-trained staff of experts cares for many women.

Graduate beauticians spend years learning the methods of their profession. They acquire scientific knowledge. They exchange ideas through beauty magazines, through associations, in schools. Such professional background means that their advice is expert.

Here is the way to use it

Massage a creamy lather of Palmolive into the skin with your hands. Work it gently into the pores for about two minutes.

Now rinse off the soap and with it the dirt, oil secretions, powder and rouge that otherwise clog the pores and make for an irritated, muddy-looking skin.

A final rinse with ice water is refreshing in the morning. It serves to close the pores, guarding them against the abuses of daily life.

PALMOLIVE SOAP

Beauty experts know best

Today, those best qualified to advise you in matters of beauty are the professional beauty experts who have studied and practiced many methods of skin care. Their experience and training are your best guide in all problems involving good looks. Go to them for special treatments. Take their advice as to home treatments. Use Palmolive twice a day and the work of your beauty specialist will be made easier, the results will be better.

Fine Selection Of Biographies At New Castle Public Library

Truth is stranger than fiction—and often more interesting. There are a number of books at the New Castle free public library that illustrate this statement. They are biographies—the true stories of great characters, of men and women who helped to build nations, and of persons who just lived and died but left something to be remembered. The word "biography" sounds uninteresting, but a glance through a section at the local library will convert many a person from fiction to stories of real life.

Here is a list of books that are on the shelves of the local library. These books and a few additional biographies which are not included at the local library were recently presented to the library of the White House, by the American Booksellers. They were chosen by a committee of learned men, and were chosen not for reference but for enjoyment.

Senate Committee To Give Approval For London Treaty

Foreign Relations Committee Will Stamp Approval On London Naval Treaty

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, June 23.—Approval of the London Naval treaty by the Senate Foreign Relations committee was slated for today.

The committee has agreed to vote on the pact at 11 a. m. and a majority vote for approval was assured. Senator Hiram Johnson, (R) of California, led a vigorous minority which opposed the document, but were expected not to succeed in their effort to block action.

Senator Borah, (R) of Idaho, committee chairman, announced he will report the committee's action with recommendations that the Senate ratify the pact as soon as committee action is accomplished. The minority will submit a report also, urging rejection of the pact as unfair to America, or at least postponement of consideration by the Senate until next fall. Borah's report will be brief. That of the opposition was expected to be comprehensive and lengthy.

MAY NAME BABY CHARLES A., JUNIOR

Thompson, former mayor of Englewood, and exclaimed: "I'm a grand-daddy! Isn't that great news?"

Ambassador Morrow was more excited over the arrival of the baby than he was over his recent victory at the polls when he was nominated Republican candidate for United States Senator from New Jersey.

"They say the baby looks like his father," one of the Morrow servants told waiting reporters.

Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh were married May 27, 1929. They have become known as the perfect air couple. They made many flight together.

Despite her approaching motherhood, Mrs. Lindbergh clung to her custom of accompanying her famous husband on flights. Only four days ago they flew together to Hartford, Conn., from Teterboro Airport, New Jersey.

Celebration Postponed

Mrs. Lindbergh has invited several friends for a quiet celebration of her birthday yesterday. The celebration was postponed, however, but all immediate members of the family remained in the Morrow home throughout the day.

For weeks, "Lindy," it is said, had been hoping the child would be a boy—an "Eagle" who some day may fly the air lines with at least some of the skill of his illustrious "Daddy."

While no details were forthcoming from the Morrow home, it was said that Mrs. Lindbergh was attended by Dr. Forbes Hawks, noted specialist of the Fifth Avenue hospital, New York City, assisted by Dr. E. H. Denen and three other specialists.

Formal announcement of the birth of the boy was made by a "friend of the family," who desired that his name be withheld. He telephoned the information to the press associations and to New York newspaper offices and they in turn promptly relayed it to reporters who had been posted at the gates of the Morrow estate for days in anticipation of the happy event.

Soon messenger boys, loaded with flowers and congratulatory telegrams, began arriving at the Morrow home. More flowers were delivered today.

Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh, mother of "Lindy," was expected to come to Englewood from her home in Grosse Pointe, Detroit.

The arrival of the Lindbergh baby was almost the sole topic of conversation in this village today. Many residents went to the Morrow estate and looked through the gate where the Morrow's house is hidden away. Several close friends, who were known by the guards, were admitted.

Neighbors recalled the day that Lindbergh and Miss Anne Spencer Morrow were married on her father's estate; the courtship of Anne by the rather shy Lindbergh that preceded that event and the numerous flights Mr. and Mrs. Lindbergh have made since the wedding day. In the last year they have flown more than 30,000 miles.

The romance of the Lindberghs rivals the most imaginative creations of fiction writers. A little more than three years ago, when Lindbergh made his thrilling and dramatic flight from New York to Paris, he was comparatively unknown and he did not realize he was flying into the limited gallery of world celebrities.

He never thought he would capture the imagination of the world; that he would be placed on a pedestal and idolized by young and old alike. Anne Morrow was only a school girl then, and she wrote a poem to the Lone Eagle. Hundreds of others, in other ways, had paid tribute to the famous flyer.

Lindbergh's fame led to his meeting with Anne. The former air mail pilot became a frequent caller at the Morrow estate not long after his triumphal return from Paris. Before the end of 1928 his engagement to Anne was rumored; in February, 1929, it was officially announced. Lindbergh visited the Morrrows at Mexico City and interested Anne in flying. He and his fiancée were flying over Mexico City on February 27, 1929, when their plane lost a wheel in the air and overturned in landing. The Colonel received a dislocated shoulder.

Mrs. Lindbergh took up flying after they were married. She flew to the Pacific Coast with the Colonel; again to Washington, D. C.; last August they flew in the national air races at Cleveland and a week later to Wichita, Kan., in search of the missing plane City of San Francisco. Two weeks later they hopped off on a 7,000-mile flight to open Pan-American Airways passenger and mail air line to Paramaribo, British Guiana.

When she returned to New York, she resumed her flying lessons and in October received her pilot's license. Later she and the Colonel became much interested in gliding. On April 20, this year, the Lindberghs in a new plane, established a new trans-continental speed record by traveling from Los Angeles to New York in fourteen hours and forty-five minutes.

The Lindberghs have been a happy couple—very much in love with each other. They have been rarely separated even for a day since their marriage. For weeks rumors of an impending visit of the stock had been current and the world at large had been waiting for the arrival of the "Child of a Century" and wondering if it would be a boy.

Mexico City, June 23.—Mexico showed deep interest today in the New-born son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Anne Morrow Lindbergh.

Mexico City and its environs were the setting of the courtship of Anne and the Lone Eagle while the latter was house guest of Ambassador Dwight Morrow after his 1927 good-will non-stop flight from Washington here.

President Ortiz Rubio said: "I take this opportunity through the American press publicly to congratulate Colonel Lindbergh and his wife. Without delay, I am extending my personal congratulations."

Cuernavaca, where the American Ambassador has his summer home, was overjoyed at the birth of his grandson.

Teachers Are Wanted For Several Schools

Country Schools And Upper Grades Of Village Schools Needing Instructors

Unemployment does not seem to be affecting country school teachers, judging from the fact that there are nine vacancies existing in the schools of Lawrence county, according to County Superintendent of Schools John C. Syling.

The schools for which teachers have not yet been secured are the Aiken, Rural Hill, Fairview and Grant Boro in Slippery Rock township; the upper room at Rose Point school, also in Slippery Rock township; No. 5 school in Perry township; Mt. Hope school in Wayne township; the upper room at Pulaski and the upper room at Enon. A teacher had been elected for the Enon school but she has resigned and the board has not yet been able to fill the vacancy.

One of the reasons why teachers have not been secured for some of the country schools is the fact that they are located in somewhat isolated districts where facilities for reaching them are not the best. The minimum wage for teachers in these schools is $85 per month, running up to over $100 per month, according to the kind of a certificate that the teacher holds. The upper grade schools in which vacancies exist pay more.

With the exception of the cases noted teachers have been elected for all the schools of the county.

Love Of Husband Led To 6 Deaths

Woman Knew Mate Escaped From Hospital; Planned Family Picnic

NEW YORK, June 23.—A woman's love for her demented husband and a yearning to share his few hours of stolen freedom, although she knew he had escaped from a government hospital, made possible the tragedy Saturday when the woman and her four children were hurled over a 400-foot cliff by the insane man, who later leaped to his death.

Just a few hours before Mrs. Gertrude Carey Spang and her children were killed, she acknowledged to authorities that her husband, Raymond C. Spang, had returned home from Veterans Hospital No. 81 in New York, but before turning him over to police, she planned the fatal picnic at West Rock, a beauty spot near New Haven, Conn.

Disclosure that the wife went to the fatal picnic fully warned of Spang's escape was made today by Dr. M. C. Baines, superintendent of the hospital.

"We discovered Spang's escape," Dr. Baines said, "within 15 minutes, about 2 p. m. Friday. We notified Mrs. Spang by telegram. We got her reply Saturday."

"Only a week ago, on Sunday, she was here, and asked for his parole. She was told he was too ill, mentally, to go home. He was highly nervous, given to depression, but had exhibited no symptoms of violence here."

Funeral services for the six will be held Tuesday morning at Ansonia, Conn., where the Spangs lived.

PREPARE FACTS FOR HARRISBURG

down was made this morning at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce offices at which were present Louis G. Genkinger, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Alfred Chilton, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Attorney Clarence A. Patterson, counsel for several of the companies; B. J. Biondi, representing the New Castle Fireworks company; Peter Iodice, representing the Pennsylvania Fireworks company; Paul Fazzone, representing the Fazzone Fireworks company; Jake Conti, representing the Jake Conti Fireworks company; F. M. Davis, former county commissioner and interested in the distribution of powder for the manufacture of fireworks, and Assemblyman Bart Richards.

Compile Data. At the meeting today figures were compiled showing that approximately 75 people are engaged in the manufacture of fireworks; that the minimum of the output is valued at about $200,000, and that here in Lawrence county are five of the 14 fireworks manufacturing companies in Pennsylvania.

The companies here feel that the department's idea of safety in the fireworks industry is a laudable one, but that it is unfair to expect the companies to make the changes necessary in a few days, and bar them from manufacture until they do. They are willing to comply with the rules, but feel that they should be permitted to operate while they are making the changes.

In the matter of safety, there have been few casualties in 35 years in this county. The companies here have been particularly free from explosions and fires, although they are not uncommon or unexpected in the industry.

To Present Facts. The meeting before the industrial board on Tuesday morning was asked for by the Continental Fireworks company of Dunbar, Pa. Like the local companies they feel that an injustice is being done in putting the rule into effect with such short notice.

The reason for the rule's application now seems to rise out of a recent explosion in Devon, Pa., where several employees were killed. This company is located in a congested district, whereas the Lawrence county companies are located in outlying spots.

Great-Grandma, 48, Is Youngest In U. S.

Mrs. Mamie Jones, Of Cleveland, Is Very Proud Of Her Distinction

And So Are Her Friends; She Was A Grandmother When Only 28

Mrs. Mamie Jones, Cleveland, O., is the youngest great-grandmother in the United States. Mrs. Jones gained the unusual distinction on April 3 of this year, when her granddaughter, Mrs. Edward Lane, became the mother of a baby girl in Cleveland.

A great-grandmother and not yet 50! Her friends and neighbors look at Mrs. Jones in astonishment when they are told that she has a great-granddaughter, for she is obviously only a middle-aged woman. In fact she is 48 years old.

She Has Ten Children
Mrs. Jones is the mother of ten children. As she gazes at the great-granddaughter, scarcely more than six weeks old, Mrs. Jones tells how she was married at the age of 12 to Emanuel Eadler, in Richmond, Ind. Since that time she has been married twice.

The grandmother of the child is Mrs. Ruby Kennedy, who is but 36 years old herself; which, while it is not claimed that she is the youngest grandmother in the country, at least puts her in the front ranks of claimants for that honor.

Became Grandmother at 28
However, Mrs. Jones beat her daughter when it comes to being a youthful grandmother. Back in 1910, when she was 28 years old, Mrs. Jones became a grandmother. It was unusual that the event became known from coast to coast. It received wide publicity in newspapers, and finally reached the ears of the late President Theodore Roosevelt. Mr. Roosevelt wrote a letter of congratulation to Mrs. Jones, which she still remembered with considerable pride.

In addition to her flourishing family of ten children, Mrs. Jones has an even greater number of grandchildren; the number of whom she declines to enumerate.

All Proud of Her
"They made a tremendous fuss over me," Mrs. Jones says. "When I became a grandmother, and it looks as though it is to be repeated now. But what I'm interested in is that my great-granddaughter is so healthy. Isn't she a handsome baby?"

When one of the neighbors calls attention of a stranger to Mrs. Jones, the invariable remark is, "What? That young-looking woman a great grandmother? She looks hardly old enough to be a grandmother much less a great-grandmother."

But great-grandmother she is, and the neighborhood takes pride in the distinction which has come to one of its number. —Kansas City Star.

SMALL MEN—

Make a habit of avoiding responsibility. Are seldom big enough to accept the blame. Are ready with alibis; great men are ready with a willingness to begin. Never succeed in making a virtue out of their smallness. Move in herds; big men are able to endure loneliness. Ask for fertile plains; big men ask for mountains to conquer. Are most dangerous when intrusted with power.

Film Showing Shocks Shieks

JERUSALEM, June 23.—In the United States the movies have known about sheiks for years, but a lot of sheiks in the Near East were recovering today from the shock of their first meeting with the movies.

They met the cinema, in which they have so frequently been featured, yesterday at Beersheba, where the government entertained 5,000 representatives of many Bedouin tribes from Transjordan, Sinai and Palestine.

The party was in recognition of services rendered by the tribesmen in the recent campaign against the locusts.

The sheiks enjoyed a feast for which 300 sheep were killed. Horse and camel races took well with the spectators. An aerial display also furnished a thrill.

Pilot And Student Flier Meet Death When Plane Falls

Crash Of Plane At Hometown
Near Tamaqua, Pa., Is Fatal To Two

(International News Service)
TAMAQUA, Pa., June 23.—A student flier and his licensed pilot are dead today following the crash of their plane last evening from a height of 300 feet over the hometown airport here.

Gavilim Arthur, 24, of Lansford, the pilot died enroute to the hospital here and Joseph Fisher, 26, of Mauch Chunk, the student, died within a few minutes after his admission to the hospital.

The crash was witnessed only by a few mechanics at the airport. The men had been flying most of the day, and were on their way home. Reaching an altitude of but 300 feet on the homeward-bound takeoff, the witnesses said the plane suddenly nose-dived straight to the ground with the motor roaring. It hit the ground with a tremendous crash.

The plane did not burst into flames and it was not difficult to extricate the victims, but they were hurt so badly they died within a few minutes. Practically every bone in Arthur's body was broken.

Exactly what happened may never be known, but it is believed that one of the men became mixed up in his set of the dual controls and threw the ship into a plunge.

The plane was completely wrecked. Both wings were crashed and the motor was hurled into the rear cockpit, where Arthur was seated. The plane was owned by the Leighton Airport.

To Mark Church Where President Stopped June 1

LIVERPOOL, Pa., June 23.—This little village along the Susquehanna does not want to forget the day it was honored by entertaining the president of the United States. Not that there is any danger of the present inhabitants forgetting, but to mark the spot for casual passers, by and the coming generations, a plate of silver suitably inscribed will mark the pew where Herbert Hoover sat for worship Sunday morning, June 1. A bronze tablet recording the event will be placed at the end of the pew and another bronze plate will be placed outside the Methodist Episcopal church, which included John S. Fisher, governor of Pennsylvania, stopped at the church for worship on their return trip to Washington after a week end spent near Williamsport. On the way to Williamsport, President Hoover delivered the annual Memorial Day address at the National Cemetery, Gettysburg.

Marriage Annulled By Order Of Court

Judge James A. Chambers Hands Down Decree In The Case Of Fred Alley

In order handed down at court this morning, Judge James A. Chambers annulled the marriage of Angela Maslyk and Fred Alley, for the reason that the girl, who was under 16 years of age, was married without the consent of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Maslyk.

The case has been before the courts for some time, and several other persons were involved. It was claimed that Alley had spirited the girl away from New Castle, and that he had several accomplices. On the night when they left it was claimed that they had slept in a barn.

One of the points involved in the case was the age of the girl. There were allegations that the records had been falsified and several hearings were held at which testimony was taken to establish the girl's age.

It was pretty clearly shown that at the time Alley took her away she was under the age of sixteen. It was further shown that he had not lived with her after she had passed the age of sixteen.

By Central Press
NEW YORK, June 23.—Some of the New York hotel men are "viewing with alarm" the increasing tendency on the part of drug store owners to qualify as food barons. There isn't a thing in the world you can't buy these days, in a metropolitan pill shop and the hotel men feel that the mixing of foods, drugs and poisons is developing into one of the greatest menaces to health. In some places the same hands handle strychnine and salads, camphor and cake, castor oil and coffee, quinine and consommé, belladonna and bread, paracetamol and pudding, and the inn owners of the town are trying to have a law passed to have the pill parajandums stick to their pestles.

AND STILL FURTHER.

Speaking of exteraneous merchandise. The chain cigar stores in Tammany Town are day by day augmenting their wares, and if they keep on it won't be long before the stogie shops will be handling, besides cigars and cigarettes, gents' neckwear, ice cream and glue. A shop at 42d St. and Broadway carries a pretentious display of books featuring the best sellers as "Droll Stories," "The Decameron" and Rabelais.

COLLECT.

Marion Spore, "The Angel of the Bowery," was married the other day. For years she maintained her own private headline on Delerel Lane and as one of The Boys put it, "never done no preachin'."

Naturally some cognizance had to be taken of the marriage by the denizens of the flop joints, and after due consideration a telegram of congratulation was dispatched to the bride, voicing the hope that she would live long and prosper.

The telegram was sent collect.

ADD SQUABBLES.

Doc Paul Elmer More, of Princeton University, one of the authors of "Humanism in America," got up on his hind legs the other day at a college commencement and characterized the intelligensia of New York as "the most tawdry and dingy ever found in history," and certain of The Brethren undertook the delicate task of telling The Doc just where he got off. Hank Carby, editor of The Saturday Review of Literature, diagnosed The Doc's condition as "peevish."

Burt Rascoe, critic, said: "More's words are to me but the droning of bees in a hollow basket."

Chris Morley, erstwhile Hoboken popcorn and drama savant, said: "I only go into New York three times a week. I am writing a book and am not a New Yorker."

And Oscar Garrison Villard, editor of The Nation, piped: "Dr. More is apparently a very bitter man."

Looks like The Intelligensia had gone after a rhinoceros with a bunch of feather dusters.

PATRIOTIC.

George Peck, the Sage of Grasmere, returned recently from Sunny It wearing one of Mr. Mussolini's Fascist buttons on the left lapel of his Moe Levy and laden with some brand new yards he heard aboard the ship.

George says the most interesting thing he encountered on the trip was a male passenger who, two days out at a champagne party, insisted upon swinging long draughts from his own hip flask.

"An' what's th' ambrosia you're so proud of?" queried George.

"Good old Minnesota bathtub gin," replied the traveller, proudly.

Has been changed, at least in the vicinity of Casca's Park where countless thousands, men, women, young men and young girls and children romp during the summer time.

There's a "new attraction," one that doesn't cost a penny to see and Paul Marakas is responsible.

"Some people think they are small dogs and others believe they are animals brought here from afar but they're not," smiled Paul today.

And now what are they? Just a pair of spring lambs, kept spotless clean by a bath a day and the poem all of us learned toddling around the floor now reads:

Paul has a pair of lambs.
Their fleeces are white as snow,
And every place that Marakas went
The lambs were sure to go.

He feeds them and they follow at his heels. They sleep in the open at night but are fenced in so they cannot devour the beautiful flowers.

Every year Paul has some kind of an animal around. For several seasons he had a pair of monkeys and the "kids" fed them bananas.

However, Marakas feeds the lambs milk and he watches 'em closely so lamb chops will not please any person's palate.

About $2,000,000 is to be spent in 1930 by the Saskatchewan government power commission on the extension of rural power lines.

Prayer In Congress

The house met at 12 o'clock noon and was called to order by the speaker.

The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

Most merciful Father, Thy name is great and greatly to be praised; we therefore wait on our God. For this radiant and beautiful day, with its baptism of the summer sun, we thank Thee. Into the garden of our hearts do Thou enter that we may join the jubilation of this earthly scene and thereby enrich our heaven. May we live where the joys are, live in the sunshine of Thy presence, live as the flowers and the birds live, free from anxious care and painful burden, just as our Father meant that we should. As for our faith in Thee and in all that is good, may it never fail us. By all Thy mercies lead us on without murmur and complaint. Keep before us Thy holy precepts and direct us in the ways of truth and wisdom. We pray in the name of Jesus. Amen.

Peter's Adventures

LITTLE JACK-IN-BOX

"What's an egg float in the life of an insect of the pool?" Brown Beetle answered Peter's question with another. "Every Mother Beetle makes a cradle to sail the inland sea, she'd be ashamed of herself if she couldn't do as well and better than that Lady Mosquito." It is to be feared however that Peter was not paying strict attention to all that Brown Beetle said. "Look, friend Mosquito has finished laying her eggs and gluing them together into a float and there she flies up from the pool and off! Goodness, Beetle, I shouldn't think she would have dared to leave her eggs to float as they will on the pool. I hope nothing happens to them!"

"Don't worry, nothing will," Brown Beetle chuckled. "Those eggs can't sink and the boat is waterproof, and—just because I have tried it myself and gotten my mouth full of a nasty mess—I am sure none of the pool people will care to sample them as food. No the eggs are safe enough, wind and weather nor the folks of the pool will harm them. The danger to Mosquito's babies will come when they have popped out of the trap door into the water which they will do bright and early tomorrow morning."

"So soon?" cried Peter, in surprise. "Do you mean to tell me that it takes but one day for a new laid egg to turn into a Mosquito? My, but I should like to catch one doing that very thing!"

"You never will" declared Beetle, giving his throaty chuckle, "or even if a baby Mosquito like a jack-in-box, popped out of her egg under your very nose, it would be so tiny you could not see her with your naked eye. Mosquitos are several days

MILLER'S ANTI-PAIN OIL

Formerly known as

Snake Oil

STOPS PAIN

From coast to coast men and women are singing the praise of "Anti-Pain Oil"—a most powerful, penetrating, pain-relieving liniment. It will penetrate the thickest sole leather in a few minutes. Mrs. B. Werner, New Orleans, La., writes: "Thanks to your wonderful penetrating oil, it relieved me of Rheumatism and deep-seated cold after other remedies failed."

"I had rheumatism so bad I had to lean on crutches for nine years, says H. C. Hendrix, old soldier of Minneapolis, Minn. "After three months treatment with Anti-Pain Oil I am off my crutches and now can walk like a boy."

J. B. Moore, Pittsburgh, Pa., railroad man, says: "Anti-Pain Oil is the only liniment that ever gave me relief from rheumatism. I use it regularly after being exposed to bad weather. For rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago, stiff joints, pain in back and limbs, corns, bunions, chest colds, sore throat "Anti-Pain Oil" is said to be without an equal."

She thought:

"If you only knew that 'B.O.' robs you of your charm."

Yet, to be polite,

She said:

"We'll call again when we can stay longer."

Callers seldom came again ... until she learned to overcome ... 'B.O.'

ANOTHER disappointment. Another call cut short with a polite excuse—a vague promise to come again. She nearly cried when they were gone. She wanted friends so. Why couldn't she win them?

Then an old school chum she hadn't seen in years—a doctor's wife—came to visit her. And from her she learned the truth. Found out about "B.O.", the polite term for a condition people dislike even to mention—body odor. No more lonely, unhappy days now. Friends drop in to see her often—she's invited everywhere since she adopted the simple safeguard that keeps perspiration odorless.

Hotter weather—watch out for "B.O."

These hot days we all perspire more. It's natural—it's healthy to do so. We get so used to an ever-present odor that we don't notice it in ourselves. But others do—and they won't excuse it.

Take no chances—don't offend. Keep safe this easy, pleasant way. Wash and bathe with Lifebuoy. Cool off—freshen up—under its glorious, creamy lather, so abundant even in hardest water. No mere surface cleansing this! Lifebuoy's searching, antiseptic lather penetrates pores—removes all odor. Its pleasant, extra-clean scent—that vanishes as you rinse—tells you Lifebuoy purifies.

A wonderful complexion soap

"I'd buy Lifebuoy as a complexion soap if for no other reason," say millions of women. Its gentle, deep-cleansing lather keeps pores free from clogged impurities—banishes dullness—brings healthy, radiant beauty. Adopt Lifebuoy today.

Bible Conference Is Opened Sunday

Slippery Rock Presbyterian Church Filled At Opening Sessions Of Study

REV. FRANK G. SAYERS

Rev. Frank G. Sayers, pastor of the First Baptist Temple of Youngstown, and one of the outstanding Baptist preachers of America, will address the Tuesday evening session of the Western Pennsylvania Bible Conference, in the First Presbyterian church of Slippery Rock. "The Chant of the Jungle" will be Mr. Sayers' subject. Rev. Sayers gave one of the outstanding messages at the recent meeting of the Northern Baptist convention in Cleveland. He is an eloquent speaker with a firm grasp of the Scriptures and widely known for his orthodoxy.

Opened Sunday
The conference had an auspicious opening yesterday afternoon, when the large auditorium of the Slippery Rock Presbyterian church was nearly filled. A spirited service was led by Prof. Dorsey L. Moody of Columbus, Ohio, a noted chorus leader and soloist. Special musical features were solos by Mr. Moody and by Mr. Burrows of Ellwood City, and a male quartette by representatives of the Zion Baptist church. Rev. Bert Williams, president of the conference, called upon Rev. H. Cameron McClure, pastor of the entertaining church for words of welcome. The opening message was given by Rev. Ward Lusk, founder of the conference, who gave a deeply devotional study on "The Power of Prayer." Rev. Geo. C. Miller, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Butler, then delivered an unusually scholarly and heartgripping message on "The Atonement." At the evening session, Rev. Hiram H. VanCleave spoke to a large audience on "The Second Coming of Christ," giving a clear and forceful presentation of that great doctrine.

Continues Through Week
The conference will continue throughout the week, closing next Sunday evening. Many people from Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio were in attendance yesterday. The program Tuesday will include the following: 10:00 a. m. Devotional address by Mr. Wm. Graham of Butler; 2:30 p. m. "The Challenge of Christianity," by Rev. Bert Williams of Ellwood City; 3:30 p. m., "Our Interference in Christ," by Rev. J. C. McElroy of Butler; 7:30 p. m., "The Chant of the Jungle," by Rev. Frank G. Sayers of Youngstown. All sessions on Eastern Standard Time.

Picnic Association Meets On Wednesday

Fine Program Has Been Arranged For Inter-County Meeting At Etna Park

Day after tomorrow, that is Wednesday, June 25, the Inter-County Grange Picnic Association of Western Pennsylvania, will meet at Etna Springs Park. Not even Old Man Weather will be allowed to mar this meeting. An excellent program is being planned and the meeting promises to be of unusual interest.

The W. H. McCullough high school band of North Beaver township will furnish music. A male quartet, consisting of J. Wylie Brewster, John Miller, Howard Gilmore and Robert Duff, will feature the program with some musical numbers. A competitive floor drill between Liberty grange, Eureka, Harmony and Westfield, will also be held at Wednesday's meeting.

LOSS REPORTED
Jesse Baker of 914 Marshall avenue, reported to the police Sunday that he had lost his vest and fountain pen between Cascade Park and Marshall avenue, Saturday evening. The police are making an effort to locate the lost articles.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEGLA ALLARD

A very charming woman in Seattle writes that she and her daughter always enjoy me, but they are shocked and grieved that I should have said that a home was a place with a cookie jar, a barrel of apples in the cellar AND A CAT TO KICK. They can't understand why I should want to kick a poor dumb animal.

Lady, lady, I wouldn't! Believe me, it's the very last thing I could do. I was speaking figuratively because that is alleged to be the trick of an angry husband who doesn't dare admit he is wrong.

And here's a letter from Oregon from a girl who was to have been married the day she wrote, but the man disappeared. She says some of her friends who were disappointed in love went around boring everybody with their troubles, but she smiles in company, and cries when she's alone. A fine little philosopher and what a wife she will make when the right man comes along! I'm glad the wrong one disappeared. He proved his unworthiness.

And a German gentleman from Chicago says, "The idea of women protesting because a nurse slaps a child. That is what's the trouble with modern youth, it doesn't get spanked enough." He says these mothers of today ask a child what it wants to do, in in HIS youth, he was told what to do and you bet he did it.

But why breed resentment in a child when you can just as easily make him want to do the right thing and enjoy doing it?

Says Bridge Game Cause Of Trouble

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, June 23.—Married in 1921 Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Raugh were happy until—well until a bridge game last year.

Last October, according to Mrs. Raugh when she asked for a divorce her husband threw a pack of cards in her face when she turned his ace during the bridge game.

Judge Drew granted Mrs. Raugh a divorce on the grounds of cruel treatment.

Ohio Group Gets Mean With Officer

Result Is That One Of The Group Pays Nice Sum In Shape Of Forfeit

Lester Livingston, 1641 Fifth avenue, Youngstown, O., arrested Sunday morning about 2 o'clock in the vicinity of the Owl cafe, East Washington street, by Officer Harry Flinner after an argument with the officer, was docketed on a suspicion charge and released on a $50 forfeit for his appearance Sunday morning in police court.

He failed to appear and his money was declared forfeited to the city.

According to the report made by Officer Flinner, he was in the vicinity of the Owl cafe talking to a C. F. James, when he noticed a large car bearing an Ohio license parked near the cafe. There were three women and two men in the car, while another man appeared to be in the cafe getting some sandwiches.

Just then another car drove up and the driver got out and came over to the large car and apparently an argument ensued. Officer Flinner went to investigate and the occupants, particularly the women, seemed to take offense, and suggested that Flinner was butting in.

The officer went away on another mission, and it was reported to him that one of the occupants had deposited something in the rear of a shoe repair shop next the cafe. Officer Flinner investigated and found a quart of liquor hidden there.

He asked them about it and the occupants of the car became nasty and he ordered them to the police station, where Livingston was held. Later a flask half full of liquor, which one of the men is said to have deposited in a doorway near the cafe was turned over to the officer.

The members of the party, according to the police, were Mr. and Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Ralph Waldhorn and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tate and a man believed to be Ralph Waldhorn, who disappeared when the car was brought to the police station.

Domestic Troubles Are Aired In Court

Matrimonial Difficulties Of Lawrence And Bertha Kraus Heard By Judge

Additional testimony in the divorce case of Lawrence J. Kraus of Ellwood City against his wife, Bertha H. Kraus, is being heard before James A. Chambers at court today. Kraus made the application for divorce on the ground of indignities, and his wife is fighting it with a denial of many of the specific allegations made by the libellant.

Kraus alleges that their matrimonial differences began about a month after they were married and continued until February 26th, '29, when Mrs. Kraus left. Kraus claims that on that date when he came home he found Mrs. Kraus and three of her brothers loading their furniture on a truck, preparatory to taking it to the home of her parents in McKeesport. It is claimed that the brothers assaulted him when he remonstrated.

Among the allegations is that Mrs. Kraus interfered with the business of Kraus, who is an insurance man. The interference, according to his testimony, consisted in ignoring wives of some of his clients in social functions. This caused Mr. Kraus to lose several policies, according to the testimony. Kraus also claims that his wife was very unappreciative of anything that he did for her, and was opposed to having any children. He claims that she called him vile names and struck him.

Mrs. Kraus blames some of the relatives of her husband for much of their trouble, claiming that they prejudiced her husband's mind against her. She denies that she was abusive toward her husband. Judge Chambers will hand down a decision later.

Unemployment Bills Cause House Battle

Determined Effort Under Way In House To Get Passage Before Adjournment

Rep. La Guardia Fighting For His Colleague's Bills Passed By Senate

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, June 23.—With congressional leaders attempting to bring the present session to a close, a determined effort was under way in the house today to force action on the Wagner unemployment bills, with Rep. La Guardia (R) of N. Y., urging support for his colleague.

Two of the three bills offered by Senator Wagner (D) of N. Y., and passed by the senate are now out of the house judiciary committee, and pending before the house rules committee which makes up the house program.

Committee Criticized.
La Guardia, whose minority report of the house judiciary committee, was on file today. Criticized the committee of which he is a member, and charged it with "emasculating the public works bill by eliminating necessary sections," through admitting the bills of themselves will not solve the problem, though they are the necessary steps to constructive solution of our unemployment problem.

Thus far administration leaders of the house have looked upon the measures with a cold eye, but there were indications they might be brought to a vote as a result of insistent clamor.

Non-Partisan Basis.
Although the fight has thus far been conducted on a non-partisan basis, Democratic leaders have indicated they would charge Republicans with failure to recognize the unemployment situation in the present session, if they fail to permit action.

The most important of the two measures sets up a $150,000,000 Federal fund to be used in times of unemployment for public works. A board also is set up to determine when an emergency exists, or the country is facing a cycle of lagging business.

A second measure provides an elaborate system of gathering statistics on unemployment. It is designed to end the controversy which has raged in congress for the last two years over the number of employed, estimated from 1,500,000 to 5,000,000.

Sen. Wagner (D) of New York has charged the White House with using its influence to hold up the measures, and has enlisted the support of a bipartisan progressive group in the house.

Warren, O., Plant Delegation Here

Flag Raising And Ball Game At Universal Sanitary Plant

Officials of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company played host Saturday afternoon to a crowd estimated at 250, when representatives of the Halsey W. Taylor company of Warren, O., their families and many New Castle people visited the plant, attended the flag raising and ball game and went through the plant. For the occasion the weather was perfect and the crowd apparently enjoyed the hospitality of the local company to the limit.

From the Halsey W. Taylor company came about 50 people. This firm manufactures the Puritan drinking fountain and gets part of its product from the kilns of the Universal. For many of the Warren visitors this was the first time in their lives they had seen the operation of a tunnel kiln in the manufacture of a sanitary ware and inasmuch as the Universal was the pioneer plant in America to install this method, the visit was even more interesting.

Opening the afternoon's events a huge American flag was raised on the new ball diamond of the company. Led by the Universal Sanitary band, directed by W. W. Wallace, the crowd marched to the ball field where Paul Taylor of the Warren company and J. J. Johnson, a director of the Universal, and S. L. Barnes, plant superintendent of the Universal, raised the flag. A baseball game between the Universal and the Taylor companies followed, this being won by the Universal, 7 to 1.

After the visit through the plant the crowd enjoyed a dinner, served in a barbeque style, and listened to a number of selections by the Harmony Banjo quartet. The visit of the Warren company men and women was a complete success and will likely be followed by other visits from customers of the Universal Sanitary Manufacturing company.

Industrial Disputes Increase In State

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 23.—Although the number of industrial disputes beginning in Pennsylvania have fallen off considerably in recent years from what they were in the war and immediate post-war years, they have shown a substantial increase in the State since 1927, according to statistics just made public by the department of labor.

During the years of 1916 to 1921, inclusive, the number of labor disputes beginning in Pennsylvania varied from 574, which high mark for the State was reached in 1916, to a low of 222 for 1921.

In 1922, however, there was a sharp drop, to 101 strikes from the 222 that had their inception the previous year. This figure then rose to 234 in 1923 and to 261 in 1924, but then dropped to 184 in 1925 to 162, in 1926, to 123 in 1927 and to 113 in 1928. Last year, however, Pennsylvania saw 184 industrial disputes within its border, thus returning to the 1925 level.

Incidentally, by its increase in 1929, Pennsylvania supplanted New York as the leading state in the number of industrial disputes for the first time since the labor department has been making this compilation. Nearly 60 per cent of all disputes reported last year occurred in four states, Pennsylvania, New York, Massachusetts, and New Jersey.

SEES PLOT IN MARKET SLUMP
Congressman Charges That It Is Aimed At Hoover

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Charging that the Wall Street slump was engineered "to discredit the national administration and the new tariff law," Congressman Will R. Wood of Indiana today urged a congressional investigation.

In a statement issued through the Republican national committee, the chairman of the Republican congressional committee declared:

"There is every reason to believe that recent manipulations in the New York stock market, which have cost investors hundreds of millions of dollars, have been to discredit the national administration and the tariff law."

Championing the new tariff, Wood added:

"There is no justification for a gloomy outlook on the future of American business, which indeed has been greatly brightened by the passage of a tariff law which will increase the demand for the products of the American farm, mine and factory."

London has a campaign against "encore bogs who insist on hearing songs in operas many times, leaders of the movement saying that the offenders should attend performances a number of times rather than bother those who are content with one rendition."

Ellwood City Team Defeats Ambridge

Good Game Is Played In Beaver County League At Ambridge

ELLWOOD CITY, June 23.—Ellwood City's baseball team travelled to Ambridge and returned with a 5 to 2 victory over the opponent in a Beaver County League contest. The J. P. Cauls have yet to win a tilt this season.

With Mundo on the firing line the Tubers were all set for the bacon but the enemy proved to be a stubborn one to overcome. It was a close contest and was deadlocked twice.

The Ruskovic crew drew first blood by crossing the plate once but enjoyed this lead for only a short time as Ambridge tied up the fray in the next session.

A run in the third frame gave the winners the lead again. For the next two sessions neither aggregation was able to change the score board. The tilt was brought to a deadlock for the second time as the J. P. Cauls annexed a tally in the sixth to make the standing 2-2.

In the eighth frame Ellwood broke the tie with a lone tally and wound up the contest by crossing the plate twice in the ninth while Ambridge went scoreless.

Mundo pitched a good game for the winners and Ambridge used Durinzo but was later relieved by Zaniski in an attempt to check the Tubers.

Irwin led the hitting attack for Ellwood with two doubles and a single. Cowie and Clarke each collected two bingles. Clarke is a new man and replaced Hamilton at shortstop. Cowies had a good record for the day with two runs and two hits.

Manosky and Ware helped their mates with two hits apiece and the former also scored a run. One of Ware's hits was a double sacker. Harris secured the other tally for Ambridge.

Yankee Team Is Not Consistent

Yanks Look Good Against League Leaders But Miserable Against Tail-Enders

INDIANS FINALLY DEFEAT ATHLETICS

By COPELAND C. BURG
International News Service Sports Writer.

NEW YORK, June 23.—"Foul whippersnappers are abroad," someone, probably the three old witches, speaks out in "Macbeth" and today there are a lot of eleven head persons going around in the selfsame way saying mean things about the New York Yankees. They even go so far as to intimate the Yanks are not a championship ball club.

These modern witches get their theme song from the fact the New Yorkers are not doing so wonderfully well against second division clubs. Last week they took two out of three against the Tigers but yesterday with a chance to advance within half a game of the leading A's they muffed opportunity by breaking even with the Browns in a twin bill.

Yanks Split Games.
In the main game George Pigeas won a pitching bout with Dick Coffman, 5 to 4, but in the tea time entertainment Blaeholder was too firm in the tight spots and St. Louis won, 5 to 2.

Gardener Jamison marked his return to the Cleveland lineup with three doubles in four times up and this combined with other heavy sticking won for the Indians over the Athletics, 4 to 2.

Babe Herman cracked out two homers to enable the Robins to come from the rear and trounce Pittsburgh, 9 to 6.

Hack Wilson got his 21st first circuiter of the year and Grimm also homered for the Cubs but Charlie Root allowed the Braves ten hits and Boston won, 3 to 2.

It was Benny Frey day in Cincinnati and all Benny's home folks from Jackson, Mich., including the Silver Cornet Band were on hand for their hero but it just was not Benny's day and the Giants won 6 to 4. Terry Jackson and Ott hammered the pill for the Giants.

Rhem and Grimes pitched superior ball for the Cardinals who grabbed a double header from the Phillies, 12 to 3 and 9 to 3. Bottomley and Fisher homered for the Redbirds.

Mr. I-Told-You-So Shires, the former White Sox grapplephone, said it with three hits, scoring four runs, as the Washington Senators downed Chicago 10 to 3.

Boston's Rudy Sox dug deeper in the basement, dropping a pair to Detroit, 5 to 3 and 4 to 2. Whitehill allowed the Boston only six hits in the opener and Gehring's home run with one on won the evening game.

Davies And Para Box Here Tonight

Para Hopes To Beat Willie And Take His Place Against Wolgast At Toronto; McCafferty And Taylor In Semi-Final; Arnold Meets Shea And Freed Is Scheduled To Battle Shelly; Open Air Battles Start At Nine P. M. Fast Time.

Willie Davies, Charleroi, and Router Para, formerly of Chile, now of New York, flyweights, are scheduled to furnish fans with action galore in a set to listed for 10 rounds tonight at Jolly bowl.

In size they're no bigger than grasshoppers, literally speaking, but for action they're as busy as bees gathering honey. Davies has fought here often and has yet to stage a drab fight. Since fighting Black Bill, Steve Rocco and Willie LaMorte, the New Yorker has grown prominent in the East.

Tonight's bout at the bowl will be watched closely as Davies is matched to fight Midget Wolgast at Toronto one week from tonight. Should Para score over Davies he would probably fill Willie's place.

Not so long ago Davies upset the fistie dope-bucket by registering a victory over Black Bill at Pittsburgh. It is true the decision was mooted and a second fight was suggested. However, the fact remains he captured the decision and that stands in the record books.

Para's trainer, Moe Fleischer, who will second Router tonight said today: "The fans of New Castle can look forward to a great fight. When Para starts swinging he doesn't stop swinging. Willie won't get a chance to play the ropes. He will be kept busy defending himself."

Should Router be capable of making Davies do that he will be the first who has accomplished the feat. Midget Wolgast captured a decision over him here but not even the Midget made Willie back around.

The semi-final tonight will be fought by Tom McCafferty, New Castle, and Dan Taylor, Cleveland. Tom put the gloves to Joe Edwards recently and made a big hit with the fans.

But can he do it to Dan? That's the rub. Jimmy Avon, diminutive fighter manager of Cleveland who handles Danny says: "If Tom starts any of those long rights look out! Dan is apt to knock him loose from his heels." Jimmie Dime, manager of Tom, to this smile. He knows Tom. Lefty Arnold, Union township 145 pounder hopes to score over Roger Shea of Cleveland tonight. "I wasn't in the shape I ought to have been when I lost to Keller. I'm going to show the fans tonight that I'm not walking away from Shea."

Johnny Freed and Young Jack Shelly (who will call himself Kelly in the ring) local middleweights will swap blows in the first tilt of the Evening's Evenings.

Joey Goodman and Jimmy Dunn are in Pittsburgh today as Joey will fight Benny Bass in a ten round bout at Braddock bowl. They will battle at 130 pounds.

Bass is the junior lightweight champion of the world. The weight for this class is 130 pounds. Bass manager saw Goodman stage a rather slow bout with Billy Wallace and reckoned on this as a criterion.

Joey looked to be in splendid condition when he, Phil Goldstein and Dunn passed through Saturday night. Dunn made no predictions but Goodman exhibited that cockiness for which he is noted. Bass is a sweet fighter. Should Joey win he won't have to worry over cakes.

While Davies and Para are boxing here and Bass is punchin' wins Goodman at Pittsburgh, Primo Carnera and George Godfrey will be fighting at Philadelphia and the gate will go over $100,000.

The big Italian who was in France for a long while before he came to the United States knocked out Kayo Christner. Godfrey has had several chances but in the "pinches" didn't come through as he should have. It is a difficult thing to judge as the merits of the fighters are uncertain.

There is an intimation that Carnera should win, tackle one or more big fellows and then Chicago would be the scene of a Jack Dempsey-Carnera fight. Should Carner win tonight and keep winning until the former champion came and fought him the biggest "eat" the world ever knew would be realized.

Godfrey-Carnera Battle Tonight

Many Believe Carnera Will Take Godfrey By Knock-out Route In Philly Ring

By HYPE IGOE
International News Service Sports Writer.

PHILADELPHIA, June 23.—The oh-so-beeg Signor Carnera will meet giant George Godfrey in the Phillies' ball park here tonight, and if the happy-go-lucky Primo knocks Gawge kicking, what then? What will they say? In the bag? How can they?

Certainly George has not improved with age and he can be whipped. Sharkey, for instance, did it when he wasn't a high-toned fighter. Risko got the decision over him, though it wasn't a brilliant bit of judging.

Jack Renault whipped Godfrey twice and George lost on a foul to Chuck Wiggins.

Carnera is Good.
They do tell me that old Gawge is not nearly the man he was when he met these fellows and he will have to be right at his best to topple this freak from Sunny Hill.

Primo hasn't got any great ring technique but he is a whale of a man and he can take it. George can give it, or could. Godfrey is a body fighter and Stribling, who fought Carnera twice, seems to think that if there is any flaw in the fellow's makeup it might be his middle section.

Stribling didn't hand that out as a tip, but he did think that Carnera took them with much more grace right on the chin.

All that goes for class and experience, makes Godfrey a winner, but—Carnera seems able to pitchfork class, experience, bulk, power and science. A strange creature this Primo Carnera. He might well have dropped off Mars to make fright faces at our heavyweights.

North Highland Trims South Hill

North Highland and South Hill A. A. staged a slugging duel Saturday and North Highland won 16 to 11. Forty one hits were made in the game. Adams got a home run. The score by innings:

South Hills . . . 100 020 214—11 15-2
North Highland . 600 006 22x—16 23-1

THE GOLF BUG

The Municipal par record of 38 was dangerously approached last Friday afternoon by R. W. Molesworth, New Castle man, who turned in a card of 39 for the nine-holes. Molesworth was playing with Faunt and Percy Rowland when he turned in his sensational card. He had one birdie, and parred six holes, taking a six on the tricky number 6-hole and a 4 on the short 8-hole. He also played the 10, 17 and 18 holes in par. His card—442 646 544 . . . . . 39.

Manager Walter "Hub" Hart asks that the golfers use that heavy white iron fence to lay their golf bag against and to please do not rest your clubs against the chains that surround the first tee-off.

The News golfing team of four men will meet the Blair Strip Steel golfers four strong at the Municipal course on Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock. The make-up of The News team is very much in doubt just now although Hickling and Walther will be two of the members.

There is still too much noise on the course. The golfers like to have it rather quiet when making their various shots and the players are asked to try and make as little noise as possible. Also on the tee-offs it should be absolutely quiet when a man is preparing to drive.

The tournament is creating quite a lot of interest at the present time. There have been a few matches played. Others will take place this week. One of the upsets of the tourney was the defeat handed Art Proietta by Tommy Dugan Dugan won his match on the 9th hole. The handicap proved true to form.

Manager Hart has instituted a new ruling at the clubhouse due to the fact that a number of golf clubs have stolen from the rented bag.

Marshall's Win Slugging Battle

McKee and Snipes hit home runs in a game between Marshall's and Houser-Kennedy, won by the former 20 to 9. Thirty three hits were registered off Fornatoro, McKee, Hallstern and Campbell. The score by innings:

Marshall's . . . 345 035 0—20 17 0
Houser-Kennedy . 001 251 0—9 16 5

Batteries: Marshall's—Fornatoro, McKee and Gormley. Houser-Kennedy—Campbell, Hollister and Gilbert.

Walsh Predicts That Bobby Jones Will Be Beaten In Open Play

America's Greatest Golfer Will Face Severe Test In American Open Tourney

His Popularity May Defeat Him—Hopes To Capture All Four Major Golf Titles

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, June 23.—That man Jones will be on his way back this week to the land that venerates his name, to pass quickly from the acclaim of a grateful nation—to what? Not into private life, not to the bosom of his family and friends, not back to the tomes of the legal practitioner. He will begin almost immediately the srrin business of defending his title of open golf champion of America at Minneapolis and so Jones, having played his heart out to win the two great golf titles of England, is really coming back to face the eternal question of his life—victory or defeat.

May Lose Open
It is not my intention to predict that Jones will lose the open at Minneapolis; merely to state that, if he is beaten, it is that that will beat him. Jones is very likely to be beaten at Minneapolis by his own popularity, by the wholly characteristic American desire to fete its notables into submission. This is the price of glory, the penalty of fame.

"No rest for a hero," says America and it promptly proves the claim by staying up all night in order to make certain that he has a thoroughly painful time of it. In this case, they are so bent on rendering Jones homage for what he has done that I expect they will seriously interfere with the things he yet has to do.

Only Two Weeks
Robert T. Jones, Jr., is coming back to America with the satiety of a man who has lived a life time within the span of a few, short weeks. There was only two weeks between the finish of one great tournament over there and the beginning of the other. Yet from the moment that he steps ashore here on July 2 to the hour when he steps on the first tee on July 10, Jones will be on parade.

It won't matter that much of his great project lies before him. It will make no difference that, having been the first man in forty years to win the amateur and open titles of England during the same season, that he still faces the most sensational parlay in all the history of competitive sport—the winning of all four major championships and the 50 to 1 bets with Lloyd's. These considerations will become unimportant because they have to do with the future, whereas the only thing of importance where a celebration is concerned is the past.

Will Get Welcome

Jones will be received in New York as no prince of the blood ever has been honored. When the echoes of this ovation have stilled, some time in the subsequent twenty four hours, Jones will face the choice of starting immediately for a flying visit to Atlanta. If he goes home, and this doubtless is an alluring prospect, another round of receptions will greet him. He won't be able to stay longer than a day, unless he wishes to forfeit an extra round or two of very necessary practice at Interlachen.

Jones, of course, went through something of the same thing before when, in 1926 he won the British Open for the first time, arrived on Broadway amid the usual clamor and then immediately jumped town to Columbus where he won the American Open. But he hardly was under the same strain then. The two British championships were spaced sufficiently to give him more rest. He didn't win both of them—and the soul of a winner in golf is torn upon the rack. He was four years younger than and youth has a way of living down its difficulties.

So I am convinced today that, in spite of the evidence of the records, it is possible to beat "Bobby" Jones in golf; that, in fact, his supremacy is menaced even at this moment by the challenger that seldom has to accept defeat, namely, fatigue.

First Group Of Regulars Arrives Early; Younger Boys Leave Sunday

Half a hundred younger boys, who carry the title of cub scouts were quartered at the camp last week, the first the camp has been in operation this summer. Several of the younger boys stayed over for the new period.

After two weeks of frolicking in the outdoors the group which registered at camp today will return to the city and another group will replace them.

But leaders under the direction of Camp Director LeRoy Norton have planned a series of interesting programs for the boys who arrived today. The regular camp program is now operating in full.

A host of visitors motored to the picturesque spot Sunday to take dinner and spend the afternoon with the boys. Previous to their arrival Sunday school was held with Scout Executive Herbert G. Horton in charge.

Volant To Hold Dairy Field Day

Plans Completed For Big Cattle Show At Volant On Thursday, June Twenty-Sixth

Valuable Prizes Will Be Given Winners Of Various Classes—Fitts To Be Judge

Plans have been completed for the annual Volant dairy field day which will be held in Volant Thursday, June 26, which is expected to attract dairymen from all over Lawrence county and southern Mercer county.

At last year's exhibition over 100 cattle were displayed, and according to the report of officers of the association, this year's show will be equally as large, if not larger, providing the weather is favorable.

Only registered cattle will be shown and pedigreed stock will be on display by the leading Jersey, Guernsey and Holstein fanciers of the district.

The officers of the association in charge of Thursday's show are J. B. Shaw, president; M. G. Moose, vice president; and Lauren Thompson, secretary and treasurer.

Prizes in gold will be awarded the winners, both male and female, in the various classes, which have been contributed by the First National Bank of New Wilmington. In addition to the events for the cattle breeders there will be a special judging contest for boys and girls under 18 years of age, prizes in gold for this event having been contributed by the Volant Mills.

All judging will start at 10 a. m. and will be under the direction of E. B. Fitts, Pennsylvania State College expert.

Music will be furnished by the Pennsylvania R. R. band, while the ladies of the Volant M. E. church have made arrangements to serve dinner at noon.

If the weather is favorable a record crowd is expected to be in attendance.

Devil Fish Invade California Waters

(International News Service) POINT ARENA, Cal., June 23.—An octopus invasion, which apparently started on the Sonoma county coast last year, is being blamed by sportsmen for the scarcity of abalones in the northern coast region.

Residents of the coast section, particularly in the vicinity of Port Ross and Salt Point, favorite abalone fishing grounds, declare they have seen huge "devilfish" pry quantities of abalone from the rocks.

A Point Arena fisherman killed a 20-foot octopus which had three abalone shells in its tentacles, it is reported. Some beaches are literally covered with small "devilfish," fish and game officials report.

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

This man Byrd seems to know something. Just when the weather is beginning to resemble a Turkish bath, the admiral and his party get back from the South Pole where ice is ice and 60 below is just a pleasant morning. And now that he is back America is giving him a reception something in keeping with what he deserves.

Let the musty history books tell us of Columbus and De Sota, Vasco de Gama and Magellan, all of that is just the printed word. Here we have a combination of them all, a man who takes a large party of men to the South Pole and back without mishap and does just exactly what he sets out to do.

The laugh of the week comes from Max Schmeling, who is by the way of being synthetic heavyweight champion of the world by reason of a foul. Max it seems figures that he wasn't done right by Graham McNamee in the recent unpleasantness with Jack Sharkey, and he up and says, sezze, that the next time he fights Sharkey, Jimmy Walker shouldn't be mayor, William Muldoon shouldn't be a boxing commissioner and that New York shouldn't be located on the east coast.

Perhaps Graham wasn't always right in his description of the fight, but if you'll recall, Sharkey had the German lad all but out when he slipped over a downstairs punch. Max should enlarge upon his attitude and insist that the next time he fights Sharkey, Jimmy Walker shouldn't be mayor, William Muldoon shouldn't be a boxing commissioner and that New York shouldn't be located on the east coast.

Those long canvas covered trucks you have seen going through New Castle recently are not hauling bowling alleys or suspension bridges. They happen to be hauling bodies for the Austin motor car, now being manufactured in Butler. Some idea of the size can be gathered when you know that the truck hauls 12 bodies at a time.

The trucks seem to be especially built for the work for they are longer than anything ever to go through here. On a sharp turn they have to take a couple of cuts at it, and from a distance they look like a traveling circus.

The stone for the new Epworth M. E. church is now arriving and the site begins to look as though building operations are about ready to bloom. The stone is as pretty as any ever brought into New Castle, and if comparisons mean anything, it is the same kind of stone as that used in the home of Edsel Ford.

The erection of steel will start this week, and the gaunt bare corner that has so long yawned for a building will soon be filled. And filled with a handsome edifice.

These new 32 candle power headlight bulbs allowed in cars are trick affairs. Coming against them on the road calls for dark goggles and if you're smart you'll get yourself a pair of them.

Further committee appointments will be made at this time, and any other member of the post interested, is asked to be present at this meeting.

Picnic Committee Of Vets To Meet

Plans Will Be Gotten Under Way For Big V. F. W. Gathering At Cascade Park

Members of the general picnic committee of the Harry L. McBride Post, have been asked to meet at the Legion Home Association Building on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The committee is composed of Charles E. Allen, chairman; Clarence A. Leslie, George Christoff, Orville Potter, Ivor V. Davis, A. F. Miller, J. E. Ellsworth, Jack LaRue, F. L. Wimer, John Stoner, Ralph Montgomery, Frank Nessel, George Thompson, and Guy Wadlinger.

Further committee appointments will be made at this time, and any other member of the post interested, is asked to be present at this meeting.

After Geo. Bernard Shaw had finished an address at Hampstead, England, recently, a nervous clergyman arose and asked him: "Are you a Christian?" "I am," smiled G. B. S. "but I often feel very lonely."

Hundreds In Procession In Corpus Christi Festival Observance Sunday Night

First public open air observance of the Festival of Corpus Christi, in which the Blessed Sacrament was born in the open and the city and its people were blessed in accordance with the practice and regulations of the Roman Catholic Church occurred Sunday evening about eight o'clock on South Jefferson street in the immediate vicinity of St. Vitus Parish Church.

It was a wonderful and beautiful spectacle with the many hundreds of people in procession between the two altars erected for the occasion at Home and South Jefferson street and Maitland and South Jefferson streets.

One could not but be deeply impressed by the celebration, as thousands of devout Catholics of the city, in a deep pious manner, knelt in the street as the Blessed Sacrament passed in procession borne by the celebrant priests and under a gorgeous canopy borne by four ushers and remained kneeling during the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament at each of the altars.

So successful was the manifestation of religious enthusiasm on the part of the Catholic populous participating, that Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church, in a short address at the third and final Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the Church, expressed his appreciation of the manner in which this first open air observance of the Festival had been received, and said that he was sure that it would mean a great blessing not only to the members of the parish and himself but to the people of the city.

He also promised that the observance next year would be on an even greater scale than this year, and that there would be four altars erected for the observance next year.

So impressed was the ceremonies of the occasion that many of the older members of the parish were moved to tears of joy as they recalled the memories of similar observances in their homeland previous to their making their home here.

South Jefferson street between Home and Maitland streets, was a place of beauty because of the magnificently decorated altars and the display of silk, damask and lace along each side of the street between the two altars.

There was a profusion of flowers on the altars and on the section of the street, in the center, where there was a path of white cloth covered by fine grasses and flowers, along which the Blessed Sacrament was carried during the ceremonies.

Adding to the beauty of the scene was the strewing of flowers in the path of the procession by hundreds of little girls dressed in white.

Young Ladies Sodality bearing bouquets of flowers, then some two hundred ladies of the Mother of Sorrow Sodality, in black and bearing candles, then the altar boys and cross bearers fully vested, then the celebrant priests bearing the Blessed Sacrament under a canopy carried by four ushers and followed by members of the Holy Name Society and members of the parish bearing lighted candles. Immediately preceding the Blessed Sacrament were two attendants bearing censers in which incense was burning.

With the appearance of the procession at the church door the bell of the church pealed forth in glad acclaim and continued throughout the period of time, with brief intermissions until the Blessed Sacrament was again within the portals of the church.

The first benediction of the Blessed Sacrament, in which the city and its people were blessed, took place at the Altar erected at Home and South Jefferson streets. As the priests and attendants proceeded to this altar from the church, the little flower girls, members of the Young Ladies and Mother of Sorrow Sodalities and Holy Name Society went to each side of the flower strewn lane and knelt, throwing flowers in the path of the Blessed Sacrament and its bearers.

Rev. Father Sebastian Ippolito, pastor of St. Lucy's Church was the celebrant and bearer of the Blessed Sacrament and he was assisted on either side by Rev. Fr. Anthony Don-atelli, assistant pastor of St. Vitus and Nicholas Biondi, a member of the parish and a student for the priesthood at St. Vincent's College, the former acting as deacon and the latter as assistant to the deacon. Rev. Fr. N. DeMita, pastor of St. Vitus church, was master of ceremonies.

When the ceremony of the Benediction of the Blessed was concluded at the Home Street Altar, the procession returned through the groups of assisting people to the Maitland Street Altar, where the ceremony was repeated.

This ceremony concluded, the procession then proceeded into the church, where the third and final celebration of the Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was held.

The ceremony here was concluded by the singing of the "Te Deum Praise Be To God."

It was one of the most beautiful and devout religious ceremonies ever witnessed in this city and the people of the city will look forward to its repetition next year.

Textile manufacturers of Czechoslovakia are much concerned over the proposed increase in agriculture duties because the countries whose agricultural exports would be most affected by the change are Czechoslovakia's best textile customers.

American motor vehicles, radio apparatus and household appliances aroused interest among the thousands of Chinese who attended the recent carnival and fair given by an international society at Tientsin, China.
